- Only full applications will be considered - all applicants must specify their research project and how the course will aid their research.
- All applicants must specify a sponsor - this is a research supervisor who knows your work. The sponsor must fill in the sponsor's section, stating how the course will benefit the applicant's research and guaranteeing travel costs for the course (either full costs if no bursary is applied for, or any costs over and above the bursary award sum). Applications without a sponsor or sponsor's letter will be rejected.
- All applications and sponsor letters should arrive no later than 20 January 2012.
- The decision of the Selection Committee will be final.
- Bursaries are available to scientists from non-commercial institutions only.
- Bursaries will be awarded by the Selection Committee, based on merit of the applicants. The decision of the Selection Committee is final.
- The maximum bursary will be £750, for travel and accommodation assistance. The total bursary award will depend on the number of applicants of high merit and their travel/accommodation costs.
- Applicants will be notified whether they have obtained a place on the course, and whether they have been awarded a bursary by or around 1 February 2012.
- Participants must aim to arrive for the start of the course, and not plan to depart before the scheduled finish time. It is very disruptive to the instructors if participants arrive late or depart early. Non-attendance during the course may be reported to the Supervisor or Sponsor.
- Participants must have appropriate travel and medical insurance for the duration of their stay. The Wellcome Trust will not be responsible for any travel costs incurred (outside of bursary payments, where awarded), nor medical costs.

- Bursary awards will be paid towards the end of the course, upon production of original receipts for travel (economy/budget/second class) to participants who have attended the course.
- No bursary payments will be paid to any accepted applicants who do not attend the course.
- If you wish to apply for a bursary, please complete a bursary application form and read the overseas bursary awards terms and conditions.
Applications without a sponsor's letter of recommendation stating why you need the bursary will be rejected.
